Cold Wave Moves In; Colder Tonight

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 10 (AP)—New York's expected cold wave moved slowly in from the west today and the Weather Bureau predicted temperatures in the 20's by nightfall.

Forecasting rain and possible snow flurries in the interior today, the bureau said a cloud cover over the state would prevent sharp temperatures drops today.

Early morning readings showed 38 at Buffalo, where yesterday's high was 60; 40 at Rochester from a high of 63; 42 at Syracuse from a 68 high and 46 at Binghamton from 69. The temperature dropped 20 degrees at Albany from a high of 68, one degree over the record set in 1881 and equalled in 1913.

New York city registered 53 in the early hours.

Atomic Talks Will Begin Sunday on Yacht Sequoia

Attlee, King, Truman Will Meet; Know Nothing of Stalin Presence

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee arrived in Washington today for atomic bomb talks with President Truman and Prime Minister Mackenzie King, both the White House and Attlee's office said they knew nothing of such a plan.

Mr. Truman said some time ago he would discuss atomic problems first with the leaders of Britain and Canada, which shared in wartime development of the bomb, and later with other countries.

Diplomatic officials said the aim of the conference, which will last several days, is to consider ways of handling the atomic bomb and policy questions on the peaceful development of atomic energy.

A variety of other subjects could come up—the whole field of British-American relations and the troublesome questions of how to get on better with Russia and what to do about the Palestine Jewish problem.

But President Truman has said his purpose is to talk about atomic problems and Attlee indicated as much in a speech delivered before he left England yesterday.

Colgate Will Admit Wives of Veterans

Hamilton, N. Y., Nov. 10 (AP)—Colgate University will admit women students for the first time in its 128-year history—but they must be wives of veterans.

Announcing the new policy today, President Everett Case said that admission of wives to classes would not put them in line for Colgate degrees since the university was not authorized to grant degrees to women.

Eisenhower, in addition to talking on an Army-Navy merger, might testify on universal military training before the House Military Committee—if the hearings are continued.

The bitter struggle between the Army and Navy over creating a single department of national defense has reached the stage where military big shots are disputing one another on the question of "who beat Japan?"

That's what caused the big blow-up yesterday.

Senator Lester Hill (D-Ala.) asked General Doolittle whether he would comment on recent statements Hill attributed to two Navy admirals, one by Admiral Chester Nimitz crediting seapower with forcing the Japanese surrender, the other by Admiral Mark Mitscher saying carrier-based planes won the air war with Japan.

Doolittle said: "Admiral Nimitz and Admiral Mitscher are great commanders, but this war was won by teamwork . . . no single agency alone was responsible."

"I do feel very strongly that it was not seapower that compelled Japan to sue for peace. And that it was not carrier strength that won the air war. Our B-29 boys are resting uneasily in their graves as a result of those two comments."

Doolittle's statement aroused Navy Secretary Forrestal. In his letter to War Secretary Patterson, Forrestal urged that a disagreement over a principle not be allowed to continue.

The general's letter was sent to the White House and the two secretaries agreed to meet there to discuss the matter.

Both secretaries agreed to meet again on Nov. 12 to discuss the matter further.

Secretary of Navy Has Written Letter About Doolittle Remarks in Committee

Group Is Split*House Committee Is Divided on Universal Training

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—The peacetime Congress was military-minded today. Opposing forces have clashed on several phases of Army-Navy policy. The situation in brief:

MERGER.—The secretary of the Navy has written a letter to the Secretary of War, protesting statements made by Lieut. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle before a Senate committee. Doolittle was testifying in favor of merging the War and Navy Departments.

EISENHOWER.—Senators expect to question General Dwight Eisenhower on the merger proposal in a few days.

UNIVERSAL TRAINING.—Congress said the House Military Committee is split half in two on the question whether to continue hearings on universal military training, or break them off until 1946. An extremely close vote is expected Tuesday.

PEARL HARBOR.—A Republician member of the Pearl Harbor investigating committee, Senator Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.), said he has asked the committee's lawyer to obtain the official diary of former Secretary of War Henry Stimson.

ARMY DOCTORS.—Senator Sheridan Downey (D-Calif.) has renewed a request to the Army surgeon general for official figures on the number and location of doctors in the Army. Senator Clyde Reed (R-Kan.) applauded this action in an interview and demanded that doctors be released faster.

Congress is awaiting the arrival not only of General Eisenhower but also of Prime Minister Clement Attlee. The Senate and House will hold a joint session Tuesday to hear a speech by the British leader.

Indonesians say Anglo-Naval guns as well as Artillery are Employed

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—British Indian troops, engaging in full scale warfare to dislodge resisting Indonesian nationalists, opened an attack on Soerabaja today. British shells and bombs raked the naval base of 500,000 population.

Indonesians were evacuating their families from the city.

Indonesian spokesman said British naval guns as well as land artillery opened fire at 6 a.m. (6 p.m., Friday Eastern Standard Time) in preparation for the attack by the full Fifth Indian Infantry Division.

British planes Mosquito bombers and Thunderbolt fighters strafed and bombed the postoffice and government buildings in Soerabaja and one Mosquito was forced down when damaged.

The Nationalists said large numbers of native youths assembled in Jogjakarta, 175 miles to the southwest, had decided to proceed to Soerabaja to reinforce their countrymen and were rallying to the cry "fight-for-freedom."

Foreign Minister Soubardja of the unrecognized "Indonesian Republic" said the telephone manager at Soerabaja had reported

Merchants to Keep Present Hours of Store Openings*Action Disregards Proposal of Chamber of Commerce Committee Regarding New Plan

At a special meeting of the Uptown Business Men's Association, held at the court house at 9:30 this morning, with over 25 members attending, it was voted to observe the same opening and closing hours that have been in effect for some time past.

These hours vary with different stores, with opening from 9 to 9:30 mornings, and closing at 5 or 5:30, except on Friday nights, when the stores will be open till 9 o'clock.

This action disregards the recommendation of the Retail Merchants Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, under which stores would open at 10 a.m. and close at 5 p.m. except on Fridays, when the closing hour would be 9 p.m.

These hours were to have gone into effect on Monday, November 12, to continue through the period of voluntary compliance with the state's new retail minimum wage directive.

The decision to adopt these hours was made by the Chamber of Commerce committee following tabulation of returns from a poll of the retail merchants, which showed a majority in favor of the hours recommended by the committee.

In the absence of President Paul A. Zucca, Vice President James H. Belts presided at the meeting this morning with Secretary Albert Flanagan again on the job after a long absence with the armed forces.

The Japanese school "left intellectual landmarks which are going to now and will for some time to come," said Brig. Gen. Elliot R. Thorpe at a press conference.

Premier Shidehara Believes MacArthur Is Moving Fairly, Effectively in Japan

By GLENN BABE

Tokyo, Nov. 10 (AP)—Premier Kijuro Shidehara believes General MacArthur is moving "in a fair and effective manner" to carry out his program of ending militarism and establishing democracy in Japan.

Many Japanese, he added, hope the American supreme commander will succeed in bringing freedom and lasting peace to Japan.

This 73-year-old statesman, called from a 34-year retirement to lead his conquered country through the ordeal of occupation and dictated revolutionary change, is among the few declared optimists in Japan.

"When we contemplate the American occupation as the result of disastrous defeat, we can't help seeing some feeling of bitterness," he told me. "But we can also hope it will prove a blessing in disguise."

"There is a terribly dark time ahead, but far in the future perhaps we can see the light and hope for better days. I'm trying to in-silicate in my people courage to face the future and now I believe there is some revival of our spirits from utter despair. This defeat is a terrible calamity, but that's war. We can only hope it will prove a lesson that will lead us to a better future."

Shidehara was ambassador to Washington in the early 1930's and then gained fame as foreign minister in a series of liberal cabinets. He went into eclipse in December 1938, after the militarists, having toppled the last government, took power. He insisted he and his colleagues were powerless to stand against the army's determination to seize power. That was the beginning of the end which led to utter catastrophe 14 years later.

Shidehara made it obvious that he still thinks largely in terms of the liberalization of the 1930's when facing the task of carrying out the revolutionary changes MacArthur dictated when Shidehara assumed office. On October 11 the Allied commander handed him a list of sweeping changes in the fabric of Japanese life and demanded that the premier effectuate them. These included emancipation of women, encouragement of labor unionization, liberalization of education, abolition of rule of the Earl Browder policy of wartime collaboration with capitalism, last night held its first rally in three years in Union Square. The occasion was a "massive demonstration to end Imperialist imperialism in China" and spreading included William Z. Foster, now national chairman of the party. Police estimated 3,000 persons attended.

All Yanks Will Be Out By Spring

United States, He Says Flatly, Will Not Help China Move Men to Manchuria

Will Aid Japs

Reparation Work Is to Be Continued, He Declares

Chungking, Nov. 10 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, commander of American forces in China, predicted today that all United States forces in China would get out of the country by early spring, and asserted flatly that the United States would not help China move troops into Manchuria.

He emphatically declared at a press conference that U. S. forces and resources were "not being employed to assist the central government against dissident groups."

Difficulties in debarkation of Chinese nationalist troops in Soviet-secured Manchuria, he added, are matters between the Chinese and Soviet governments.

And he added: "We won't be able to move Chinese troops to Manchuria by air. The Chinese themselves can do that."

The American commander emphasized, however, that the United States would continue to assist in the repatriation of Japanese from the Chinese theatre, but that American forces would remain "non-partisan" as far as the strife between the central government and the Communists is concerned.

Wedemeyer expressed regret about isolated clashes between "my men and dissident groups," but asserted that in no instance had the Americans taken the initiative.

The General said that U. S. Marines would not land at other areas in China nor move to any other points within the country from their present stations at Peking, Tientsin, Tangku, near Tientsin, Chinwangtien and Tsingtao.

He asserted they will keep open communications between Tientsin and Chinwangtien port for the shipment of coal to Shanghai from the Kailan northeast of Tientsin.

Three Million Families Must Double Up in '46

Washington, Nov. 10 (UPI)—At least 3,000,000 American families—including those of 1,000,000 war veterans—must "double up" with other families in order to have living accommodations in 1946.

That's the outlook John B. Blafield, Jr., national housing administrator, gave in a letter to mayors of all cities of more than 25,000 population along with a warning of "continued tight housing supply" next year.

He said about 1,000,000 families are living doubled up now and that "preliminary estimates show that another 2,000,000 families must double up by December 31, 1946, unless their plight can be relieved by a far greater volume of new housing than anyone considers possible." This would be beyond a goal of 475,000 units hoped to be completed in 1946.

Blafield suggested in his letter that as a step to curb inflation in prices of new and existing homes that cities establish appraisal bureaus to give estimates of fair values to all prospective buyers.

He said "the chief burden will fall on our cities" in handling the housing shortage and he asked that they plan carefully to stimulate all possible construction along lines which would best meet the problem.

The World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

A.P. Foreign Affairs Analyst

The London press reported yesterday that it was likely there would be another meeting of the Big Three chiefs of state after the conference in Washington this weekend of President Truman, Stalin and Attlee. The little man-in-the-street believes this trio of great executives possesses the magic to pull the world out of its tail spin. He believes in the old adage that too many cooks spoil the broth. He thinks that the three heads of state by themselves can achieve what couldn't be accomplished by a dozen assistants who have to keep referring questions back to headquarters, and can't bargain on their own responsibility.

Naturally the exigencies of war made speedy cooperation vital. Delays might spell disaster. Today's urgency may not be so apparent—but it's there just the same. In Europe and in Asia there are developing dangers every bit as real as many of those of the actual battle-field.

Ely Culbertson Will Speak Here Thursday

Ely Culbertson, who will appear here Thursday under the auspices of Kingston National Dinner Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel, is a man of versatile genius and international background. His father, an American mining engineer, founded the Russian oil fields of Grozny in the Caucasus; his mother was the daughter of a Cossack general. While still in his teens he felt the knot of the Czar's soldiers, and was locked in a death cell from which every day a new batch of his fellow revolutionaries was taken out to be shot. Here he learned the religion of humanity, here also he learned to play cards with concentration and with skill.

Though known to millions all over the world for his system of contract bridge, Ely Culbertson thinks of cards as his hobby, and the by-product of his real vocation, which is the field of mass psychology.

He has studied at six universities. He has read deep and widely in philosophy, history, economics and also stood in breadlines, picked fruit, planted corn, panhandled, ridden the blind baggage and gambled scientifically for a living. Ely Culbertson has devised a foundation and blue-printed a framework for enduring peace based upon a long and profound study of world political and economic conditions.

Admission to the lecture and dinner are by membership only.

MILITARY TRAINING

The recent message on universal training delivered by President Truman in which he backed up the suggestions of General Marshall on that important subject has served again to bring the problem into the lime-light.

Those who oppose universal military training at this time cite examples of what has happened to show that military training and universal conscription have not kept a nation out of war. They point to the recent experience of France. That country, they say, had universal conscription but this did not prevent its being overrun by the Germans. This is true. But the fact remains that the French, torn by political dissensions, permitted their defenses to weaken to the point where the Nazis knew they could overrun the country in a few weeks. France was not prepared.

The important lesson is that something more is needed than mere universal training for a complete defense. Science and invention also must keep up with the times.

Proponents of military training point out that the lack of adequate defense and universal military training have not kept us out of war in the past. They say we got into two world conflicts and were unprepared. It was only that we were protected by an ocean on either side, and the enemy had to strike nearer home, that saves us from more serious trouble. Next time, the military men say, we won't have several months, or a year or two, to prepare.

The kind of defense we should have and the amount of our military training is a question which only can be determined by the best minds of the country. But it is true that lack of defense and lack of training have not kept us out of war in the past.

WE MUST FACE IT

We might as well face it. The victory of our boys over the enemy does not end the war as far as its financing is concerned. The home front must continue this job for many years.

The war, including veteran allowances for hospitalization and rehabilitation, will cost the home front about 434 billion of dollars by next June. We have the word of the Bureau of the Budget for that.

Four billion dollars of the above is for veterans alone. Add to another 4 billion each year for the next 10 years and you have the estimated veteran hospitalization and rehabilitation cost. Those are only estimated. The final figures may be much greater.

On top of this is a sum of five billion annually for interest on the public debt of $295,200,000,000, that is more than 295 billion of dollars. Then, too, corporations and individuals will pay less in taxes due to the peace. But the money will have to be forthcoming just the same—from some other source.

That is the real reason for the Victory Loan. The truth is we must have the money. The Victory Loan gives to us the opportunity of our own free wills to lend it to our government. This could only happen in America; this financing of a war and its disabled—at a profit to the Victory Bond investor.

So, set your personal quota in the Victory Loan—and let nothing keep you from making it. Victory Bonds offered now are for all purposes: education of your child when it grows up, modernization of the farm or home when it needs it later, training for some poor fellow who can't be a plumber because some Jap shot off his hand. Buy now, no matter how much you lend, it won't ever hurt as much as that missing hand.

CHRISTMAS TOYS

There is rejoicing, and also fear, in the hearts of parents as they look forward to Christmas. The fear, however, may be mostly on mother's side. For metal toys are back again, after four years' absence, and well she knows the depreciation they may cause in buying furniture and woodwork. They are expected to sell, however, for only about one-third as much as wooden toys, for similar articles and that is some comfort in quarters where Santa Claus has to count costs.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO BRETON WOODS?
So far, only the United States has ratified the Bretton Woods Agreement. Forty-four nations attended the conference at Bretton Woods and on July 22, they signed the agreements. But so far 43 of them have failed to ratify. The United States hopes that after the loan agreement has been arranged the British will ratify Bretton Woods, and apparently the loan agreements contain some arrangement of this nature.

When the Bretton Woods Agreements were being negotiated, the American people were informed that the peace and welfare of the world depended upon them. Bretton Woods formulated two projects: An International Fund that would stabilize the currencies of the world and an International Bank for Reconstruction and Development. The plans evoked the most widespread discussion, conservative bankers and economists regarding them as unsatisfactory; government authorities insisting that they were essential for world rehabilitation. Henry Morgenthau, for instance, in proposing the plan, wrote:

"...With abundant capital, the devastated countries can move steadily toward rehabilitation and constantly improving standard of living. Nothing could be more conducive to political stability and to international collaboration. Without adequate supplies of capital, however, recovery in Europe and Asia will be slow and sporadic, and economic discontent and international bitterness will in time assume disturbing proportions."

John Maynard Keynes, setting forth the British point of view in the House of Lords, said: "What, then, are these major advantages that I hope from the plan to the advantage of this country (United Kingdom)? First, it is clearly recognized and agreed that, during the postwar transitional period of uncertain duration, we are entitled to retain any of those wartime restrictions and special arrangements with the Sterling Area and others that are helpful to us, without being open to the charge of acting contrary to any general engagements into which we have entered. Having this assurance, we can make our plans for the most difficult days which will follow the war, knowing where we stand and without risk of giving grounds of offense. This is a great gain—and one of the respects in which the new plan is much superior to either of its predecessors, which did not clearly set forth any similar safeguards."

Professor Benjamin H. Beckhart, of Columbia University, said:

"The more one studies the agreement, the more is one convinced that the fund lacks the clarity, singleness of purpose and internal consistency essential to its successful operation. Sir John Anderson, Chancellor of the British Exchequer, in an address at the Lord Mayor's luncheon on October 4, 1944, described the agreement as a 'difficult document, inevitably long and technical' and stated that it contained some obscurities of language which had led to misunderstanding and which must be clarified."

"The obscurities surrounding the plan relate not only to its language but also to its fundamental purposes..."

So much for quotations. The agreements were signed. The United States ratified them. The fund was to have aggregated $8,800,000,000; the bank was to have had a capital of $10,000,000,000 of which the nations at Bretton Woods were to have subscribed $9,100,000,000. The quota of the United States in the fund was $2,750,000,000; to the bank, $3,175,000,000, totaling approximately $6,000,000,000 which Congress voted and President Truman approved in August.

But no other country has set aside one dollar for either the fund or the bank. In fact, Great Britain has been conducting negotiations with our government for credits of precisely the nature which should have been handled by the bank under the Bretton Woods Agreements. Other nations have been seeking credits through the Export-Import Bank. Bretton Woods has been bypassed in the initial stages of world rehabilitation.

Unless 65 per cent of the quotas to the monetary fund of the Bretton Woods Agreements ratify them by December 31, 1945, the entire plan is lost. The agreements become void. It is still possible that the agreements may be ratified in time to permit ratification. It is interesting, however, that whereas the plan is reported to have originated in Great Britain, only the United States has gone through it so far. Maybe, no one else really wants Bretton Woods. Maybe, nobody cares.

VITAMINS

The discovery of vitamins and their value in deficiency diseases has been one of the greatest achievements of modern times. That the lack of certain vitamins in our diet can cause poor appetite, poor digestion, scurvy, inflamed gums, pigeon chest and bow legs, sterility and other diseases is now well known to us all. However that we are hearing too much about vitamins and not enough about the great value of our natural foods forms part of an editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association which quotes from an article by Dr. Harry Backwin which appeared in New England Journal of Medicine.

"Infants are fed vitamins although there is not definite clinical evidence that deficiency diseases are common among children or that any benefit can be derived from the general use of vitamins except in the case of vitamins C and D in infancy."

Dr. Backwin believes that despite all statements to the contrary the appetite can be trusted and is more likely to be correct than the diets arranged by our laboratory experts. While many physicians will not agree with the idea that an infant can select its food better than a trained dietitian, the factor of what the child or even the adult likes is important from the standpoint of digestion and general health. What is called the "train appetite" because the nerves of sight, smell and taste enter into it, is most important in digestion, as sight, smell and remembered taste cause digestive juices to flow in mouth, stomach, liver and pancreas before food is eaten and so this food gets a flying start in digestion.

Dr. Backwin insists that eating should mean roasts, saucers, puddings or pies rather than calories, vitamins and minerals.

The thought behind the article and editorial is that in deficiency conditions vitamins are of the utmost importance, but for the average healthy individual the everyday food properly cooked and served satisfies appetite and give enough nourishment.

It is always wise to make sure of enough vitamins and minerals by eating some raw fruit or vegetables daily and at least one milk product.

Rent Control Is Still in Effect, Hoag Declares

Reports circulated recently that rent control is to be ended shortly in the Poughkeepsie defense rental area are unfounded, Charles C. Hoag, Area Rent Director, assured tenants today.

"As long as the Price Control Act authorizing rent control remains in effect and the shortage of housing facilities makes it necessary to protect tenants from unwarranted rent increases and evictions, O.P.A. will not lift the safeguards," Mr. Hoag said.

Mr. Hoag also reminded landlords that failure to comply with any of the following rent regulations subject them to penalties:

All rental housing accommodations, including rooms, apartments and houses, in the Poughkeepsie rental area must be registered with O.P.A.

All changes of tenancy must be reported to O.P.A. within five days after they occur.

When a change in tenancy occurs the new tenant must be shown the landlord's copy of the O.P.A. registration statement and his signature must be obtained on the statement, as well as on the O.P.A. rent office.

Landlords are permitted to collect no more than the maximum legal rent unless they have first obtained written permission from the area rent office.

In general essential services may not be discontinued until written authority to do so is obtained from the area rent office.

No attempt may be made to evict a tenant unless the landlord has a legal right to do so under the rent regulations.

Landlords who want to evict a tenant from a housing unit that the former bought on or after December 1, 1942 in order to occupy it themselves must get from the area rent office a certificate authorizing the eviction.

Landlords and tenants alike were urged by Mr. Hoag to call or write the Area Rent Office, 331 Mill street, Poughkeepsie, when they have any questions on rent control.

Johnny Greco Is Friday Victor Over Janiro in Garden

BY SID FEDER

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—Along Bush Boulevard, the bewildered boulevardiers were calling Johnny Greco "the elevator" today, and were still marvelling how, in altercage ring appearances, the Canadian clout can be up and down like the express to the Empire State Building tower.

Take for instance, his three straight recent tea parties with jumping Tony Janiro from Youngstown, Ohio, a fancy-Dan kind of welterweight who was regarded as about the classiest piece of bantam-busting brawn-hair to come down the pike in quite a spell.

The baffled Boulevarders still are trying to follow Johnny's ups and downs through that trio of tussels—particularly the final one, in Madison Square Garden, last night, when he was the 12 to 5 betting underdog, and practically raised lumps all over the Youngstown youngster.

The first time they tangled, in July, Greco squeaked home with the closest kind of a win. He was "up" that night. The next time, in August, the wagering folks naturally liked Greco somewhat off his first performance. So Johnny was "down" for that one, and Janiro not only punched him all around the premises, but came within whistling distance of putting him away.

Then came last night, Janiro had given Johnny such a going over in the second meeting that the Garden lobby betting boys thought Tony was "money in the bank" at 5 to 12. The price was right—for Johnny's backers.

The Montreal mauler floored Janiro twice, had him close to hearing the birds in the seventh, and galloped home with the eighth-round decision. Although Tony laughed at Johnny's left hook in the second fight, the Canadian did about 95 per cent of his scoring with just that blow this time.

After the bout, Janiro's handlers said he hurt his left hand in the third. However, he would have needed two hands, holding a peach basket, to catch all those hooks Greco heaved.

Greco weighed 145 pounds to Janiro's 144.

Tougher for Nelson When Golf Stars Leave the Service

Dunham, N. C., Nov. 10 (AP)—While Byron Nelson was reeling off golf victories with almost monotonous regularity, some said that with due respect to the terrific Texan, things would be different when the stars in military service came back to the tournament wars.

First it was Slammer Sam Snead who, after serving a Navy hitch, returned to win a handful of events last winter, breaking in on the Nelson monopoly. Then Ben Hogan, released by the Army picked up the slack when Snead cooled off.

And now another ex-G.I., Ed "Porky" Oliver, all 230 pounds of him, has moved to the fore.

The Wilmington, Del., pro, was top man with a two-under par 63 as the $5,000 Durham Open moved into the second round today.

Discharged from the Army last month after four years, five months and 28 days of service in this country, Oliver held a slim one-stroke lead.

The 69 shooters including Willie Turness, Pensacola, Fla., and Herman Barron, White Plains, N. Y., were snapping at his heels. Back of them were seven with par 79's, nine at 71 and 14 very much in the running with 72.

It took a score of 79 or better to stay in the fight. Thirty-six holes tomorrow wind it up.

Maroon Harriers Compete Monday In Sectional Meet

Encouraged by the fine showing they made in the DUSO meet last week, Kingston High School cross country squad enters the Sectionals Monday morning at Suffern, hoping to come through with a win. Competing against six other teams, Middletown, Newburgh, Nyack, Monticello, Suffern and Marlborough, the Maroon is facing tough competition. Starting time for this meet is 11 o'clock.

Coach Loring Connick has nothing but praise for his squad as they prepare for their last action of the present season. "The boys have really come along fine," the Maroon mentor told the press, "far, back last September, no one thought we'd ever win a dual meet, let alone come close to competing the DUSO meet. Although injuries to Lirey and Dolan effected the squad slightly, I don't believe that this will lower the determination of the boys to win Monday's meet."

Ten boys will make the trip with the Maroon harriers: Jim Dwyer, Bill Glaser, Halstead, John Lawson, Marty Leder, Merv Thorpe, Roy Thorpe, Dick Van Bramer and Eddie Ward. Although Frank Dolan is listed a knee may keep him out.

HOME FROM THE HUNT—With Kirk dog, Tex, four hunters—John Westmore, Joe Wilkins, Art Adcock and Gerry White—head home from an eastern Pennsylvania shoot.
